Accomplishments in my life: being part of the BC Girls under 19 soccer team, scholarship to Princeton, participating in the world rowing championships twice, being 3 / 950 people to be hired by Goldman and Sachs, successfully launching a clothing label.

Interests: Sports.. previously soccer and rowing.
Now running, working out and extreme sports: mountain biking,kite boarding.
I used to be very competitive and used sports as an outlet where I could dominate.

Interesting Course or Subject I have taken: metalwork in high school was really cool. I liked creating things. It's the course that stood out from my high school days.

Interesting Course or Subject I have taken: At Princeton, I loved Japanese Culture, Art History because it looked at ancient Mexican and Pre-Columbian Art.

If I had a month to do anything I wanted I would: travel to Thailand, Nepal, India. These are places that I don't know about.

Question 1: Am I reaching my potential?
It's easy to get stuck in rut and not challenge myself to reach my highest potential.

Question 2: What is it about my personal patterns that are limiting me?
If I had asked that and figured it out earlier I would have fixed them and not wasted as much of my life.

Question 3: Why can't I be the best?
